

MISS THELMA WINNBERG

The School

Nevada has not anything to show more fair
Than the large, rich looking high school to the passer by,
A sight which is so touching in its majesty
This town doth like a garment wear.
The beauty of the school, so silent and bare;
The large rooms the long halls and auditorium lie
Open unto all, even to the passer by.
This great building stands beautiful in the smokeless air.

This great building is like a city set upon a hill,
It gives enlightenment and knowledge unto all
Who come and enter its great walls at their will.
So come all ye people and do not the standard fall,
But take courage and support it until the end,
And you can feel that to Nevada, you have been a friend,
HELEN LOUISE HOFFMAN.

Many schools are larger than Nevada High School and many schools are smaller than Nevada High School, but in the minds of its students no school is better. We are justly proud of our roomy campus; our new spacious building; our large auditorium; our excellent gymnasium with dressing rooms, lockers, and showers; our science haboratory; our manual training, commercial, and domestic science departments; and our many other modern school conveniences.

However, the building alone is not our only source of pride. Both a junior and senior high school, either of which compare favorably with any like school in the state, are furnished with the most modern and practical equipment. We pride ourselves on a course of study wide enough in range to be an education in itself, a course which combines with the fundamental studies the more specialized preparation for positions in 1 to

But the thing on which we pride ourselves most is the spirit in which the students enter all contests—the spirit of fair play. They give their best and, if possible, by doing this they win. Sportsmanship as the ruling spirit in all contests, whether athletic, forensic, or merely inter-class. Fairness is never sacrificed for victory, but the latter is usually attained through united cooperative effort. Our students are boosters, our athletes are champions, our debaters are second to none, and our annual is not as bad as it might have been.

In offering to the students of the surrounding country the best in education and activities, and in the acceptance by the students of these opportunities in a hearty, cooperative way, Nevada High School attains as much as any school could hope to attain. N. H. S. has no excuse to offer, and needs none!

The darkened roof rose high that it is Rich beauty oft bounds in mere simplicity.

The School Board

The success and progress of our school and the pleasures and enjoyments of our school life are obtained through the untiring efforts of that group of men whose every act is for the betterment of the Nevada School System—the School Board. We owe them as much or more than any other group of individuals connected with our school life. They, who unceasingly give their time and thought to our affairs, deserve the high esteem which every student gives them. Sometimes we think they are a bit too strict; sometimes a bit too liberal; but in the end, we must agree that they were right. Perhaps the students have not always given the school board the cooperation and support that they should have, but in the mind of every student is the assurance that their efforts are for our good and not theirs.

May the school board always assist and direct us as they have in the past and may we lend them our undivided cooperation as they continue their work, which they have always done so well.

Senior Class Report

In September, 1922, over one hundred boys and girls entered Nevada High School. These boys and girls were to be known as the members of the "Class of 26," During their first year N. H. S. gave a carnival and the Freshmen chose Velma Bullock to be their queen. Towards the end of the term a pennant was be stowed on this class because they had sold more Class Play tickets than any of the other classes

While designated as Sophomores they elected Lucille Palmer as Comet Queen

The Class of '26 was represented in all activities. The Gleo Clubs, Dramatic Club, Orchestra, Football, Busketball, and track teams were all proud of the '26 members

We're glad to boast that the Football and Boys' Basketball captain, Wagnet Crowford, and Adda Belle Foster, Girls' Basketball captain, belong to the Class of '26

Another honor was Emma Leuty's W. C. T. U. theme which won a prize of ten dollars. During the Senior year another member. Gussie Clark, was presented a medal for writing the best theme on the life of Lincoln. Also in the 1926 Gold Medal Contest, Class of '26 was represented by Ella Powell

Although every member worked hard and enthusiastically there was also some play along with the work. Picnics and parties were given and each was proclaimed a success.

Never has a class been graduated from Nevada High School with more pennants than Class '26, for the members were victorious in nine contests and the rewards were seven pennants and two banners. This large prize proved that in all four years this class was led by ideal sponsors and office.

And now as this mighty class near their longed-for goal—Graduation—each one has a feeling of regret at the thought of leaving N. H. S. and starting on that doubtful road called "The Future." But each and every one is also proud and court for he knows that he cannot fell f he remembers the motto of his Class. "We'll find a way or make one."

Darell Griffin: Naw, sap, the engine does that. You just get on.

Bill Stewart: Hullo, Joe. Are you using your lawn-mower this afternoon?

Joe Hess: Yes, I'm afraid I am

Bill Stewart: Splendid! Then you won't be wanting your tennis racquet—I've broken mine!

Josephine Crockett: Do football players usually get by in their class?

Warren Moseley: Yes, you see they are such clever passers.

Gay Barton: Say old man, can you let me have five

Chas. Dowell: No-

Gay Barton: -minutes of your time?

Chas. McDowell: -- trouble at all, old scout.

George Schwenck: What did your grandfather say when they amputated his leg?

Harold Pierce: He yelled, "Hey, what's coming off here?"

Loyd Davis: How do you like my room, as a whole? Estill Johnson: As a hole it's fine, as a room—not so good.

Evelyn Dail: You could never marry money without love could you?

Our Coaches

Nevada High School was extremely fortunate this year in having two coaches of unusual ability. Mr. Oliver was coach of football, basketball, and track; while Miss Dorman coached girls' basketball. Both are graduates of the State Teachers' College at Springheld, and both took part in the athletics of that institution.

Miss Dorman was a member of the basketball squad for several years, and after her graduation coached basketball in Marionville and Monett, before coming to Nevada. While a coach at Marionville and Monett. Miss Dorman turned out several teams of championship caliber. Since coming to Nevada her natural ability and coaching experience have enabled her to produce some of Nevada's best girls' basketball teams. She is a coach who takes personal interest in every member of the squad and one that is able to arouse the best in school spirit and interest in her players

During Mr. Oliver's four years at the Teachers' College, he became an outiding figure in the athletics of that school, and became known as one of the last all-around athletes in Missouri. Mr. Oliver played four years of football and basketball for the Teachers' College, and was famous as the hardest hitting half-back in the conference. He was twice an all-state half-back on the football team, and once all-state guard on the basketball team. He was captain of both the basketball and football teams during his Junior year in college. He also played on the championship football team, and the basketball team, and the basketball team that won the
M. I. A. A. championship in 1917

After leaving college Mr. Oliver played tackle on the Philadelphia Navi Strands football team, the only undefeated football team in the east in 1918. Mr Oliver had coached football in both Oklahoma and Missouri before coming to Navada, and has acquired a reputation for turning out winning teams. His natural ability and his winning personality have made him one of the most popular athletic directors Nevada has ever had. He is able to inspire his teams to do their very best, and he has the respect and admiration of every member of his squad.

With such athletic directors as these, it is no wonder that N. H. S. is noted for her athletic teams.

Ray Cushman: I wish I could get my girl's father on the team,

Wag. Crawford: Why so?

Ray Cushman: He furnishes the toughest interference I ever struck.

John Perry: There is only one position on a football team suitable for a woman.

James Morgan: And what is that?

John Perry: The quarterback's—he does all the talking.

Sweet Young Thing: What is Byron Moore doing playing so far back

G lbert Carter: He plays safety.

John Cathers: Say, what's the idea of calling me 'Bacon' My name's John Cathers.

Mr. Oliver: Well, you're always off side

Ed Carpenter: They are so particular about their headgear.

Victor Cook: How is that?

Ed Carpenter: They are so particular about heir headgear.

Martin Crigler: I see Warren Moseley made the team.

Ellis Swan: Yes, very rotten.

Geo. Swearingen: Smart girl, that cousin of yours.

Gene Williams: I'll say so, she can tell the goal posts from the players bench.

James Moore: Why do they call it the gridiron?

Boys' Basketball Report

The opening of the basketbail senson this year did not show any particularly bright prospects for Nevada's boys team. Among the thirty odd candidates that reported for practice the first night, there was only one letter man, and a very few that had had any previous experience. It looked as though Nevada's boys basketball team would be too inexperienced and lacking in knowledge of the game to be a threat to the strong teams in the Midwest and Southwest Leagues. But not the case. Under the coaching of Mr. Oliver, and with the carnest cooperation and interest of every boy on the squad, a team was soon developed that was a credit to the high school, and one that was worthy of wearing the colors made famous by the N. H. S. teams of former years.

The boys played 18 games, of wisch they won 12 and lost 6. Nevada's total score, however, was more than double that of her opponents, and all the games that were lost were lost by a margin of a very few points. Nevada's team this year may not have won so many games as those of previous years, but it has done one thing more important, it has established for itself and for the high school, the reputation of being the cleanest, hardest-fighting team in the conference. And in that, perhaps it has won the greatest victory to be obtained in athletics,

Every member of the basketball team this year was a good sport. Every man on the team fought hard and clean, played the game till the whistle blew, was always working for victory, and was always courteous and friendly toward his opnount. They were always gracious in victory and smiling in defeat. N. H. S. basketball team this year combined all the manly qualities to be obtained from clean athletics. They lived up to and carried on Nevada's athletic ideal—that of sports manship. May the teams of the future keep this ideal untarnished

Girls' Basketball Report

The girls' basketball team this year was exceptionally good. It was composed of conscientious, energetic, faithful girls, who fought hard and clean throughout the game, whether they were winning or losing

The numbers divisible by three were unlocky for the team this year. We lost our third, sixth and ninth games and one at the tournament. Although we were defeated four times this year, the total of our opponents' points lacked one hundred and thirty eight points of equaling our total. Victories are not everything, although they stand for a good deal, and are what every team should strive for. The best thing that can be said about a team is that they are good sportsmen, and the Nevada team carries the name of being the best of sportsmen or some unknown reason there are only six letter girls this year. Tompkins, as forward, cannot be surpassed. Her shots were accurate and seidom failed to gethrough the basket. Braun, although she did not make points, was a splendid player because of her accurate team work. No team will ever need any better forwards than these. Creek was new on our team this year, but had played for two years on Milo's team. Her guarding was better than the average, and, although she was small, not many forwards got around her. Ozeo was a clean, hard fighter, and because of her height, only a few baskets were made by her opponents. These two guards played together so fast that they could not be beaten. Hartsook, as running center, simply could not be beaten; she was fast and her passes swift and sure. Fosier played such a game at jumping center that she never met a player who could outjump or out-play her. Foster has played basketbail four years and has never missed a single practice in all that time. Foster's and flartsook's team work was absolutely unbeatable. Due to the untiring efforts of the coach, the whole team played exceptionally well.

What we lost in defeats, we gained in sportsmanship. It is sincely hoped that the succeeding teams will up-hold the name this team has gained for Nevada

Last Year's Track

Last year's track team lined up to the record established by former teams of N H. S., in that it won four our of the five meets entered. In winning the big Tri-State meet at Pittsburg for the third consecutive time N. H. S. has gained the honor of Keeping the big cup for which, during the last three years, schools in Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma have competed.

Many other cups were also added to our trophy cases. Letter men in track last year were: Keithley, Soward, Price, Abbott, Dooley, Thomas, Ewing, Bunker, and Carter.

Tennis

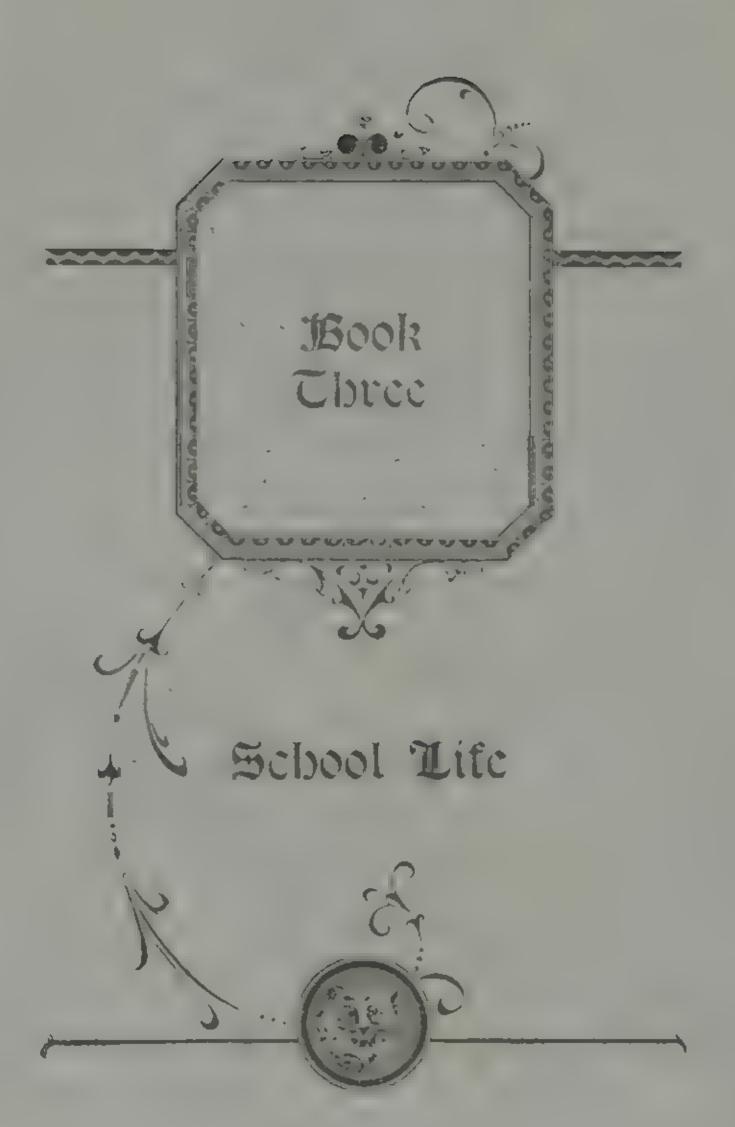

Carl McLemore and James Moore composed the 1925 Tennis Team. In the local school tournament, Moore won the championship, while McLemore was runner-up.

These two racquet wielders were entered in the Southwest Missouri Tournament to be held at Springfield. This classic was held on the State Teachers' College courts. Moore represented us in the singles and McLemore and Moore held the burden in the doubles.

The doubles team drew a bye in the first draw, but they were pitted against West Plains in the second round. The local team found little opposition in the West Plains battle, so they reached the finals Their opponents were Aurora. Aurora's team had disposed of Springfield and Monett. After a hard fought battle the Nevada lads were victorious, thus gaining the championship of the Southwest Missouri Conference.

In the opening round of the singles Moore drew the Springfield High representative. After a hard struggle, Nevada's entry won the match. This was the hardest fought battle of the tournament. Monett was the Nevada boy's next victim. The final round brought Nevada and Aurora together again. Moore showed his superiority and again was victorious.

Nevada High had gained two championships in two days. The doubles team won the doubles championship, and Moore gained the singles victory. So comes to Nevada High School two more tennislaurels. Both McLemore and Moore were awarded gold medals.

National Honor Society Report

The big charict race started at the beginning of the high school course, September, 1922, with many enthusiastic participants. The Chariots of Ambition drawn by the fiery Steeds of Scholarship, Leadership, Service, and Character raced toward their goal, the National Honor Society. Around the curves the chariots come, and the spectators gasp as one loses a wheel and is hurled aside. The horses gain speed! The turns are dangerous and many horses stumble. Some forge ahead and some lag behind. Here a driver is thrown from his chariot, but arises and presses on with renewed vigor. At the end of the junior year four chariots arrive at the goal and receive the reward, the standard bearing the keystone and the flaming torch. Many others are still in the race, of which the first seven will be winners at the end of the senior year. The victors chose Mrs. Symns as their sponsor and made her an honorary member of the organization. They elected the following officers Presidents, Emma Leuty and Adda Belle Foster; vice-presidents, Verna Hoffman and Gussie Clary; secretaries, Gussie Clary and Verna Hoffmann; publicity chairmen, Adda Belle Foster and Emma Leuty. The present members are waiting to receive the winners in the chariet race. The honor of winning fully pays for the hardships that were encountered throughout the four year long contest.

The Dramatic Club, under the direction of Miss Anna L. Clack, began its fourth year as a High School activity by electing Eugene Williams, president; Bert Bennett, in operation, and Bertier Braun, sectors of reasurer

Throughout the term the member we shown an introct and a willingness to work that has made this the most successful year of the club to twice-a-week meetings with their one-act play and occasional stant programs have been thoroughly enjoyed

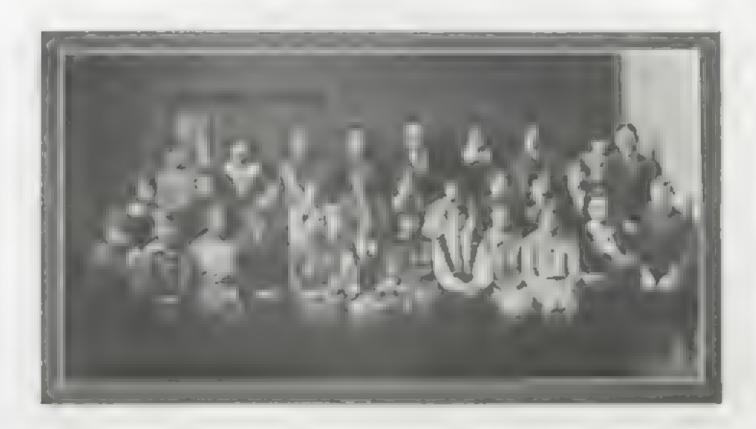

Mixed with the pleasure has been some real work. Part of the time has been given to the study of character interpretation, expression, stage setting, and play directing

The open session, January 14, consisting of four short plays, was very succeptul. By the stage, in the club has furnished much entertainment for the student body by giving the real embly programs during the year

In short, each of the fifty-five members of the Dramatic Club would say to you, 'If you want both pleasure and profit, take 'Dramatics' next year

The Student Forum was organ—I this year for the first time in Nevada High School. It is to of the first and most important steps that has been attempted here to organize N. H. S. on a democratic basis. The word "forum" was chosen as a part of the name, because the organization was intended to be a place where student and faculty interests would be gathered and school problems would be discussed. The Forum has no power or authority except to recommend that certain things be done.

The Student Forum con—s of twelve members, two boys and two girls having been elected from each of the Senior High classes. The members elected were: Seniors—James Morgan, Gilbert Carter, Gussie Clary, Bernice Sharp; Juniors—Arthur Whittaker, Darrel Griffin, Eve Lynn Dail, Ruth Key; Sophomores—Keith Novinger, Talbot Wight, Virginia Callaway, Mary Lee Phelps. Mr. Davidson is administration representative and Miss Phillips is faculty representative.

At the st meeting of the Forum the group organized and elected Miss Phillips, chairman, and Eve Lynn Dail, secretary.

It has been possible through the Forum for the faculty and student body to come to a better under anding. The faculty has been informed of and influenced by the utitudes of the different classes on various high school problems. On the other hand, the students have come to see and understand the position taken by the administration and faculty.

The Student Forum has undoubtedly been a pleasing addition to our high school activities and is one that may be greatly develoed in the future. The hope of this year's members is that it shall live and become an essential factor in the life of our school.

Frieda Allan: That cat is certainly rude to his parents.

Georgia Argo: Yes, he is always sticking splinters in his paw.

"Let's go, Team!" yelled the farmer.

Visitor: This must be the sculpture division of your statue department, isn't it?

Mr. Davidson: Shhh! Don't wake them, This is a classroom.

John Phillips: Does your dog chase cows?

Clifton Tow: No, he's a bull dog.

Mr. Oliver: Hey, you, mark time! Donald Bateman: With my feet?

Mr. Oliver: Did you ever see anything mark time with its hands?

Donald Bateman: Clocks do.

Hat Check Girl: Aren't you going to give me a tip? Why the champion tight-wad of the town gives me a dime.

Mr. Esther: He does? Well, gaze upon the new champion.

Operetta

The operetta has become an annual event in Nevada High School, and one which should be encouraged. It is the only thing of its kind which is given during the year and is always looked forward to by those who attend it. The Operetta is given by the two glee clubs, under the direction of the musical instructor, and is the main activity of these

The Operetta this year was "Polished Pebbles," an excellent entertainment given by the boys' and girls' glee clubs under the dirction of Miss Hall. It was a representation of rural life and was well given, and enjoyed by all who attended it. The cast was exceptionally well chosen and the music by the chorus was very good

An unusually large audience attended the Operetta this year and all who saw it commended it highly. This type of entertainment is yearly becoming more popular and is receiving the support which it deserves.

Debate Team

The school showed a much greater interest in debate this year than usual. Out of a large number of contestants, Roy Wert and Ellis Swan were chosen to represent Nevada

The subject for debate was: "Resolved that the amendment to the United States Constitution enabling Congress to regulate child labor should be ratified by the several states,"

The first debate of the season, in which Nevada supported the affirmative and Sheldon the negative, took place in Nevada. Although Sheldon has a good team, the Nevada debators won with comparative ease. The next debate was held in Nevada also. This time Nevada had the negative and Rockville had the affirmative. Although the Rockville debaters were well prepared, the Nevada boys again got the decision. The third debate, in which Nevada had the affirmative, was held at Carl Junction. This debate was a hard fought battle and although Nevada won, it certainly deserved the victory. The final debate was held at Carthage. Nevada again supported the negative side of the question. Martin Crigler served in the place of Ellis Swan, who was unable to debate. For some reason or other the Carthage debators managed to convince the judges and Nevada lost the debate, eliminating us from the league.

Although defeated once, the debate team this year has gone farther than any other in the history of the school. In reaching the fourth round they established for themselves a good standing throughout the league. The team certainly deserves credit for their work, no small share of which should go to Miss Phillips, who acted as coach.

Gold Medal Contest

The 14th annual Gold Medal Contest was held on the evening of February 18, 1926. After the High School Orchestra had played several selections, Mr. Davidson explained that the school board gave the medal every year in order to encourage public speaking.

The three orations, written and delivered by William Sterett, Martin Crigler, and Estill Johnson, all deserve praise. William Sterett delivered an oration on "The Folly of War." Martin Crigler's oration, "The Lynch Law," was very good. "Daniel Webster" was the subject of the oration delivered by Estill Johnson.

Four girls entered the finals in readings. Ella Powell's reading, "White Sox," got several good laughs from the audience. Helen Ozee gave the reading, "His Son Joe Plays Football," every word of which was in Dago dialect. Dorothy Dickerson impersonated two people, a mother and child in a reading, "Little Johnnie Visits the Dime Museum." Nina Pickard touched the hearts of the audience in the reading, "Polly of the Circus"

After the judges decision, Mr. Kaupp, representing the achool board, presented the gold medals to the winners. Martin Crigler got first place among the boys, and Helen Ozee was chozen as best among the girls. William Sterett was second in orations while Ella Powell, Nina Pickard, and Dorothy Dickerson tied for second place in readings.

Musical numbers were given during the program and consisted of a piano solo by Josephine Crockett, a cornet solo by James Moore, and a vocal duet by Marylee Phelps and Roberta Harbur.

We are now one year old in our high school work, but realize that our work has just begun.

Freshmen! Yes, but as Freshmen, are you not proud of us? You ought to be We do not claim to have shown exceptional merit in our first year, but we expect to become one of Nevada's best known classes

In later years we will contribute stars to all branches of work, athletics, dramatics, glee club, etc., who we feel will carry on the good name of our class and our school

We yield to time. Next fall we take up the role of the arrogant Sophomores.

The symbol of the A. L. Club is a question Mark pin signifying the name of the Club. It's name is its motio in French and is a mystery.

The history of the A. L. Club is a glorious one. During the past year this club has maintained its usual high standards in citizenship ideals. The literary and must od programs have added much to the interest of the members and visitors of the club

The A. L. Club has furnished members for all Junior High Activities, including many members of the mixed chorus, prominent members in Dramatics, and placed two in the All-Star Basket Ball squad.

May the next year and all succeeding ones be as prosperous for the A. L. Club as the last one has been

During this term the 8 A Home Room Club or the Record Breakers have done many interesting things under their home room teacher, Miss Hughes. There have been three exciting elections. Each office holder has a term of two months. A program is given in the club room each Tuesday. The subjects, courtesy, kindness and good citizenship, have been discussed in these meetings. 8 A members have been trying to have perfect attendance each week too, and several weeks they have succeeded.

We certainly have some good basket ball teams, the boys especially, the girls having had a little hard luck by losing to their opponents. During the Junior High School Basket Ball Tournament our boys won all the games played against the 7th range sections, thus giving to us the championship for the 7th grade

Some of the upper classmen think we are young and insignificant but all we are some to live up to our stated slogan—to show them year by year—"What's Ware"

The Junior Citizens' Club is composed of seventh grade boys and girls whose ast names range from S to Z and its home is Room 11. Mrs. Davis is sponsor

This club has accomplished what no other seventh grade in Junior High has ever done before, and up to date has won the Citizenship pennant three times.

The club made a good showing in the basket ball tournament, the boys winning the game with 7C, losing to 9C and 7A, the girls winning the game with 7C and 8t, losing to 7B

The following have been presidents of the club: Carol Talbot, Helen Short, Isabel Shanks

JUNIOR HIGH GOSSIP.

Ben Ed Stump: Hey, give me that shovel. Gerald Hazlet: That snow shovel?

Ben Ed Stump: Sure, it's a shovel.

Miss Winders: Spell the plural of baby.

Analice Turpin: Twins.

Harold Fowler: He made the best after-dinner speech I ever heard.

Alva Forney: What did he say?

Frank Fowler: Waiter, give me the check.

Miss Roberts: Name a collective noun. Carol Talbot: A vacuum cleaner.

Mary E. Porta: And so Mr. Coplen got his M. A.? Almond Lindley: Yes, but his P. A. still supports h.m.

Lee Moss: Can you lend me $10, dad?

Dad: With pleasure.

Lee M.: Then make it twenty and thoroughly enjoy yourself.

Clinton Frazier: When I see some of the wonderful inventions in electricity, it makes me think a little.

Betty Jo. Davis: Yes, isn't it marvelous what electricity can do?

Mr. Roper: "Didn't I tell you to notice when the glue boiled over?

Cecil Maxwell: I did. It was a quarter past ten.

Vernice Cain: The farmer gets his living from the soil.

Betty Carter: And so does the washer-woman.

Jack Woodfill: Professor, your little son has broke his leg.

Mr. Davidson: How many times must I tell you that it is not "broke," it's "broken."

Mr. Coplen: Why didn't you filter this?

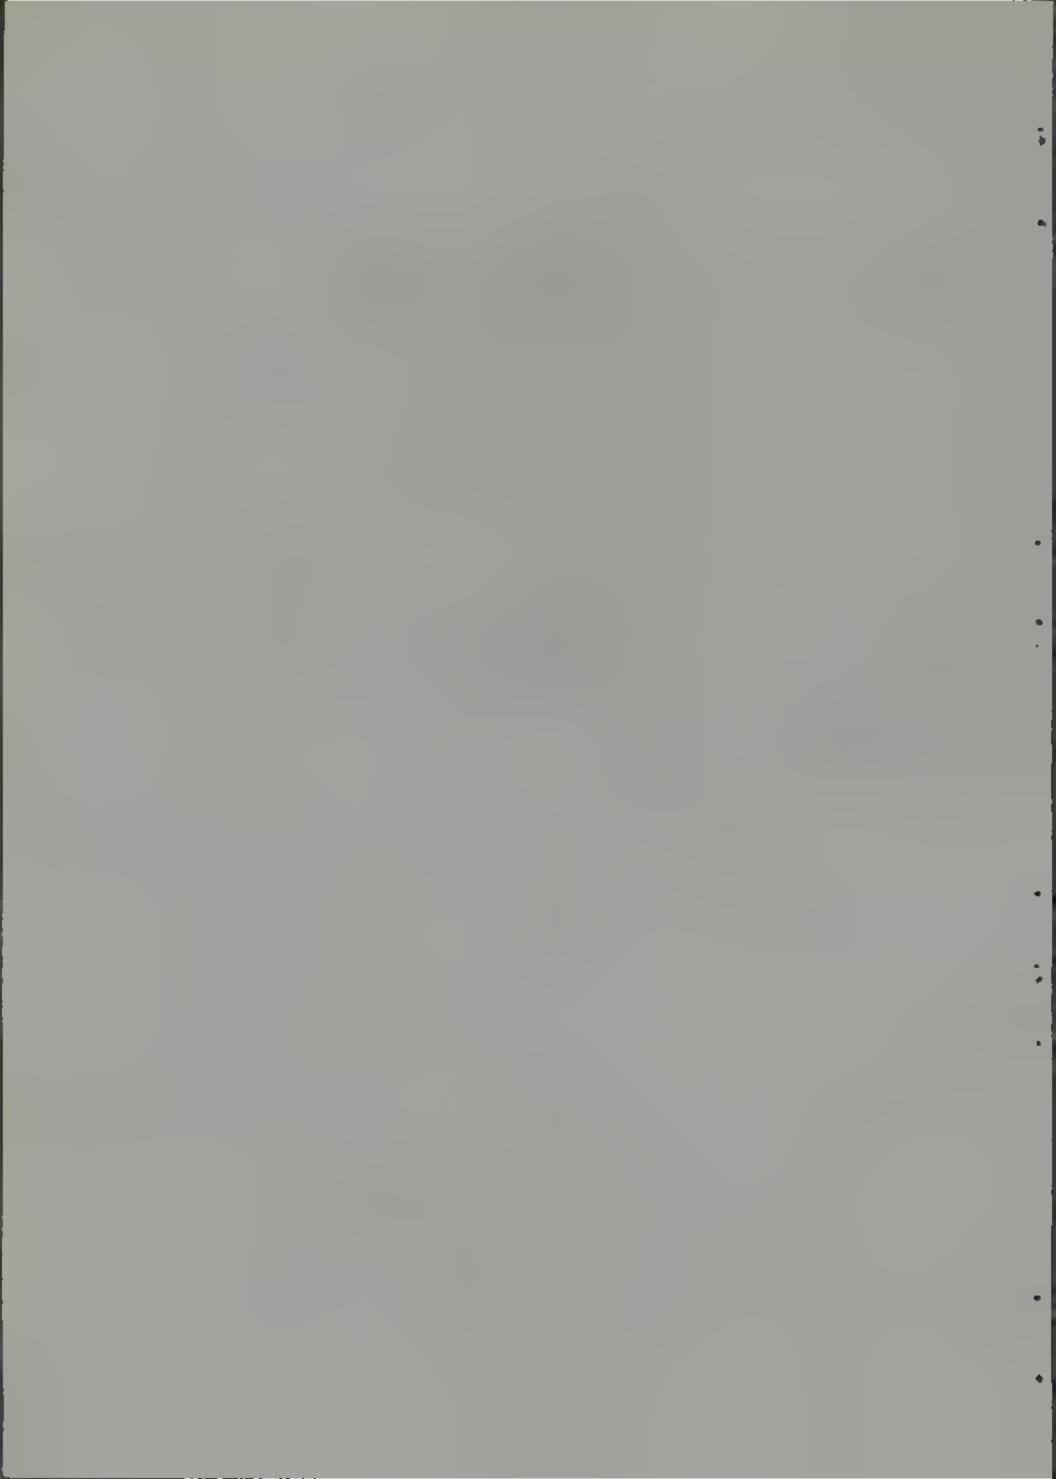

Alta Green: I didn't think it would stand the strain.

Miss Copeland: They say that a student should have eight hours sleep a day.

Caroline Sears: True, but who wants to take eight classes a day?

Clarence Gray: You surely did plough up the line today. Joe Scott: Yes, and now I've got to go home and line up the plow.

Football Defined

The name, football, comes from the old Anglo-Saxon word, football, meaning murder, which originally came from the Greek word pronounced football, meaning murder.

It is a delightful little game for the children to play in the nursery on a rainy day.

Twenty-two men and any number of doctors can partake in the sport. There are eleven men on a side. It is generally the referee's side. For this reason the referee wears knickers and carries a whistle.

When the referee blows the whistle the traffic starts up and down the field. As the ups and downs meet they see red and stop. All the ups suddenly become downs.

After three downs the side in possession of the ball generally kicks. The kick is done something like this. "Ah, that referee's crazy! That ball's over a mile!"

If the team makes ten yards in four downs it isn't a very downy job. As a reward for this hard work they are permitted to try again. They seldom do, usually resorting to the strategy of forward passing the ball to one of their opponents who, seeing it coming, thinks it's Christmas and starts to run. He immediately finds out it isn't Christmas and wishes he'd gone right into his father's business instead of going to school. However, sometimes they recover.

And so the game continues to the end, just one give and take until all the available players have either given out or been taken out.

-Judge.

How to Tie a Bow Tie

Hold the tie in your left hand and the collar in your right. Slip your neck in the collar and run the left-hand end of the tie over the right with the left hand, steadying the right end with the other hand. Then drop both ends, catching the left end with the right hand and the right end with the left hand. Reverse hands and pick up the loose end with the nearest hand. Pull this end through the loop with the unengaged hand and squeeze. This ties the bow. As a finishing touch, disentangle the hands.

-Flamingo.

Blessings on thee, little dame
Bareback girl with knees the same;
With thy rolled down silken hose,
And thy short, transparent clothes;
With thy red lips reddened more
With a lipstick from the store;
With thy bobbed hair's jaunty grace
And thy much bepowdered face
From my heart I give thee joy,
Glad that I was born a boy.

RULES FOR CHEMISTRY STUDENTS (Laboratory Work)

- Always rush through the laboratory as fast as you can run, whether you know what you want or not.
- Ask all the foolish questions you can of the instructor. He is there for your benefit.
- Make all the poisonous and obnoxious gases you can, so as to drive everyone out. You need the room.
- 4. If you can find any other student's drawer open, and see something you want, take it. If you don't find the drawer open, break it open, for he left the stuff for you.
- 5. When you break a test tube take your neighbor's; he's rich.
- Never pay any attention to the instructions or notices. Start a howl for the instructor and don't be satisfied until he gets all the stuff and performs the experiment for you.
- Always keep in mind that you are great chemists and assume a patronizing air when you are discussing the subject of chemistry.

THAT'S ALL THERE IS— THERE AIN'T NO MORE.
